SYNOD HAS CLOSED ANNUAL SESSIONS

Adjourned at Rocky Mount Yesterday to Meet Next in Charlotte.

BUSINESS WAS DISPATCHED

Closing Day Quite Busy—Visitors to Peace—Dr. Wells Lectures on Great Edinburgh Conference—Temperance.

(By Miss Mamie Bays.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., Oct. 28.—At 1 o'clock today the Synod of North Carolina, after clearing the docket of its annual sessions, adjourned to meet in Charlotte a year hence in the Second Presbyterian Church. The host of Synod, Rev. W. D. Norton, led the closing prayer and pronounced the benediction.

Many of the visitors to Synod left today while many others remained over tonight and listened to a particularly strong address by Rev. J. M. Wells, D. D., of Wilmington, on the World's Missionary Congress in Edinburgh, Scotland, which he attended. The closing minutes of Synod were taken up with the final reading and approval of the minutes. Hon. A. M. Scales, the moderator, expressed his appreciation of the courtesy and cooperation which the members of Synod had shown him as moderator. Revs. J M. Wells, D. D., and Neal L. Anderson were appointed visitors from Synod to Peace Institute.

A resolution was offered by Mr. L. R. Young, recommending that during future meetings of Synod the programme include more sermons. After some discussion the resolution was placed on the docket. Another resolution placed on the docket was one emphasizing the importance of every representative to Synod remaining throughout the entire session. Resolutions of thanks for entertainment to the pastor of the church, to those furnishing music during the sessions of Synod and to the papers that have published reports of the sessions were adopted with a rising vote.

Synod's Last Day.

The last day of the session of the Synod is always a very busy day, on account of the large amount of work to be disposed of that cannot be handled except during the closing hours. Today was no exception and one report after another was adopted in rapid succession. An incident that was especially interesting and impressive took place this morning in connection with the election of the chairmen of the permanent committees. After these chairmen had been nominated and elected, the name of Rev. William Black, Synod's evangelist, and that of Rev. D. I. Craig, stated clerk, were proposed for re-election. A motion was made and adopted that these two men who have served Synod so long and so efficiently in their respective offices, be re-elected with a rising vote. It is safe to say that no members of Synod are more universally loved than are Dr. Craig and Mr. Black and none are rendering a larger service to the church. The report of the committee on Bills and Overtures submitted the following which was heartily adopted:

"We recommend this deliverance:

"The Synod of North Carolina would reiterate its testimony against the traffic in intoxicating liquors as a fruitful source of abounding iniquity and misery.

"2. Recognizing that the flooding of our State with intoxicating liquors from other commonwealths is a fruitful source of drunkenness and misery, we would urge our people to use all means which may be approved by their Christian conscience and judgment to remedy this evil.

"3. In view of the lax enforcement of some of the laws of the State and a widespread failure to recognize the binding obligation and sanctity of the oath, we earnestly urge the fundamental importance of obedience to law and call for a deeper realization of the binding force of the oath, whether of office or court.

"4. Synod has heard with pleasure and profit the able address of Rev. R. L. Davis, superintendent of the North Carolina Anti-Saloon League and assures him of its deep interest and sympathy in every effort looking toward temperance, sobriety and law observance."

The session today began promptly at 9 o'clock and Rev. Chas. E. Raynal conducted the devotional services. The minutes of yesterday were read and approved. Dr. D. I. Craig read the report of Synod to the General Assembly and this report was adopted. The report on State of the Church was read by Mr. George W. Watts and it was characterized with facts so full of interest and information to the church that it was adopted with the recommendation that the report be printed in a form suitable for distribution to the churches throughout the bounds of Synod.

Among other things this report expressed the belief that at the present time there is awakening among people on the subject of church going.

GOVERNOR STUBBS DEPOSES INCREASE

Bitterly Scored the Railroads For Stock Juggling and High Finance.

APPEARS FOR THE SHIPPERS

Declares Freight Rates Should Not be Advanced—More Risk to Start Bank Than to Build a Railroad He Asserts.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Presentation of evidence by the shippers, who are opposing the proposed advance in freight rates, was concluded today before the Inter-State Commerce Commission with the testimony of Governor W. R. Stubbs, of Kansas, who in characteristic maner declared his opposition to an increase in rates and his belief as a practical builder of railroads that valuations have been placed at too high a point.

"I'll put up a million dollar bond," said the Governor "tnat I can construct a main line railroad in Kansas, an up-to-date line too, for $25,000 a mile and make ten per cent. profit."

The lowest estimate of railroad building offered by the railways more than doubled the governor's estimate.

Governor Stubbs was the principal witness introduced by the shippers.

Governor Stubbs time after time jumped from the role of witness to that of cross-questioner and repeatedly turned on the railroad attorney with "now I want to ask you a question."

At one point in the cross-examination by Attorney T. J. Norton, of the Sante Fe Railway, Governor Stubbs declared:

"Now let me tell you something. There is not as much risk in building a railroad in a good territory as in starting a bank. I don't think the roads need professional rights; they can make money as they are and they should be run on the same business basis as a bank."

Mr. Norton asked the witness if he knew of the washout which put the Salt Lake road out of business for a hundred days.

"Yes, I heard of it, was the Governor's reply."

"I just called attention to it in connection with your comparison with the risk of railroads and banks" said Mr. Norton.

"Well let me give you some information along that line about banks," interjected Governor Stubbs. I can tell you a story that will make your hair stand up."

Mr. Norton disclaimed any desire to have his hair "stand" and Commissioner Lane, the top of whose head is smooth, said "Suppose you tell me that story governor." The story was lost in the laugh which followed.

"Don't you think, Governor," was another question, 'that the Sante Fe road is entitled to the increased value of its properties in Kansas? You do not deny to the Kansas farmer the increase in the value of his land."

"Yes," quickly rejoined Governor Stubbs, rising from his chair and emphasizing his words by pounding on the judge's bench. "But that land is worth more because of the honest labor of the men, women and children on every quarter section of Kansas land and the stock values of the railroad holdings have been juggled and inflated and I don't know how much water there is in it."

Governor Stubbs repeatedly referred to the position taken by President Ripley, of the Sante Fe railway, that the market quotations of railroad stock was a fair criterion of the property values.

"I think President Ripley is a mighty fine fellow," said the governor 'but don't agree with him on that point. I want the railroads to give to the Commission the actual cost of their roads and I want them to get a fair return on their investment."

Later Governor Stubbs again stood up, and, punctuating his words with blows on the bench beside him, said:

"The railroads ought to be allowed from five or six per cent. on their actual investment and also lay aside a nice surplus for emergency use. But they ought not to invest that emergency surplus from time to time in permanent improvements and then add it to the capitalizaion. Every business man ough to have a surplus for a rainy day and the railroads should too.

"I don't think that $25,000,000 is too great an amount for the Sante Fe as an emergency fund for a bad year or a washout; but keep that fund separate and don't capitalize it. The people will be pleased to pay the railroads liberal returns on their actual investments if they will only stop stock juggling."

A question about the automobiles in Kansas caused the governor to throw back his head and almost shout:

"I'll tell you why there are a lot of automobiles in Kansas. It is because we've got a prosperous, industrious people, fertile fields and have the stuff to buy them in spite of the high railroad rates."

Continuing, Attorney Norton said: "You said you thought that the pay of some of the railroad men should be raised. If it is found necessary to increase the freight rates to give this increase in wages and also to pay a fair return on the railroad investment, are you opposed to an increase in the rates?"

"Not on your life," was the instant reply of the witness.

In his testimony Governor Stubbs declared: "The curse of the railroad business in this country is the stock juggling and the high finance. Stop this high finance. Make every dollar of capitalization represent a dollar invested in the road and people will fall over themselves to buy railroad stocks and bonds."

SNOW COMES WITH COLD WAVE

Ahead of Frost in Some Sections of the South Yesterday—Generally Cold Throughout the Country—Atlanta.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Snow, many days ahead of its average date of appearance, fell today as far south as the north sections of the Gulf States; and throughout the entire country unseasonably cold weather prevailed.

In the East and South the cold wave from the West arrived early in the day and the prediction is that the cold will continue in these sections tomorrow to be followed by moderating temperature Sunday.

In all sections east of the Rocky Mountains, with the exception of the Great Lake region where snow flurries are predicted, generally fair weather is to prevail tomorrow, the rising temperature to move gradually eastward.

Snow in the Lake Superior region today was heavy and killing frosts prevailed in the interior sections of the country. In the northwest the conditions moderated considerably during the day, a maximum of 62 degrees having been reported from points in Montana.

In the Ohio Valley and the Appalacnain mountain regions snow flurries of today are to be followed by clear weather tomorrow.

Atlanta, Ga. October 28—All records for freak weather were broken tonight when snow fell in and around Atlanta. It is the first in the history of the Weather Bureau that snow arrived ahead of frost. The thermometer registered 36 degrees.

His thigh was broken in several places and several ribs were broken. He died enroute to the hospital. He was 45 years of age, and a painter by trade.

MEMPHIS SALOONS TO RE-OPEN

Federal Court Judge Dissolved Injunction—Upholds the Principals of State's Rights—Grand Jury Indictments.

Memphis, Tenn. Oct. 28—Declining to assume jurisdiction and upholding the principals of State rights, Federal Judge John E. McCall late today ordered dissolved a temporary injunction restraining continuence in business of 114 saloons keepers of Memphis.

Notwithstanding the declaration of the Law Enforcement League of Memphis, who through fifteen of its members appeared as complainants, that their appeals to State and local authorities for redress had been unheeded, Judge McCall held that prosecution through grand jury indictments was the proper recourse and was still open. In answer to the allegation that the constituted authorities of the State were not in sympathy with the prohibition laws as enacted and had refused to act upon information furnished he cited impeachment proceedings as a method through which their removal from office might be accomplished.

The opinion denied that the plaintiffs had established the fact that their constitutional rights, within the meaning of the fourteenth amendment to the Federal constitution on which the litigation had turned had been violated and denoted that without this fact being fully proved, controversies between citizens of a State properly belonged in the State courts.

An appeal to the Federal Circuit Courts will be made.

1,000 CHINAMEN DROWNED.

Result of Floods—Whole Town Inundated for Two Weeks.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 28.—One thousand persons were drowned at Chenkiang, China, early this month following a rise of the Han river, according to advices received today. Large areas in the Chenkiang and the Menyang districts were submerged.

Yokohama was inundated two weeks ago. Rain had fallen continuously for 17 days, and 3,00 houses were uninhabitable. Embankments had gone out and heavy losses were feared.

SNOW IN ASHEVILLE.

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 28—The first snow fall in Asheville occurred late to-day when small flakes sifted down and swiftly blowing clouds came from the north. It is said that some of the high mountains are snow-capped. The first killing frost occurred October 24th, the change of weather being quite sudden.

SENATOR ROOT UPHOLDS TAFT

'Natural and Inevitable Candidate of His Party in 1912" Assertion in Address—Spoke to New York Republicans.

New York, Oct. 28.—"If Mr. Taft continues to make as good a President as he is making now he will be the natural and inevitable candidate of his party in 1912 unless one thing happens—that the people of the United States shall repudiate the administration of Mr. Taft by such a crushing and overwhelming defeat of his party that it will be apparent that Mr. Taft cannot be re-elected."

This is the statement made tonight by United States Senator Elihu Root in a speech at Manhattan casino. Mr. Root addressed himself particularly to those Republicans who might stand willingly to vote against the Republican gubernatorial candidate for the sake of rebuking Theodore Roosevelt, and he declared that Republican defeat in the State this Fall would be even more of a blow to the present National administration than to Colonel Roosevelt. In fact, he said, a Democratic victory in New York would more than likely turn the next National convention away from a National administration which could not hold its party together and toward Mr. Roosevelt or "to one of the far more radical leaders, who are now looming up on the political horizon in the north and middlewest."

Contrary to come expectations, Senator Root brought no direct pledge from Colonel Roosevelt regarding his attitude toward the nomination in 1912. He ridiculed the issue of the "new nationalism" as interpreted by the Democratic platform, warmly praised Colonel Roosevelt for his defeat of the "old guard"; attacked Tammany Hall and warned voters of the danger of putting the offices of State Comptroller and State Engineer in Tammany's power. He commended Mr. Stimson's services in the sugar prosecution and called attention to the fact that the Standard Wall Paper Company, of which Mr. Dix is a director, asked Congress to raise the tariff on wall paper.

"It is said that to have Mr. Stimson in the governor's chair would promote Mr. Roosevelt's political fortunes," said Senator Root. "The people who say this, he continued, "do not mean what is undoubtedly true, that Mr. Stimson will be such a governor as to reflect credit on every one who has supported him. In any other sense the proposition is based on an entire misunderstanding of the man. He was selected as the candidate because he had done some things in public office which show what kind of a man he is and which ought to be a guaranty to the people of the State that he is the kind of man they need for Governor. No man can use him and no man can make a stepping stone of him.

'The idea that Mr. Roosevelt contemplates an attack upon our judical system or that system is in danger from him or from any one else is purely fanciful and devised for campaign purposes only."

JOHNSTONE BEATS OWN AERO RECORD

Aviator's Flight to 8,751 Feet Featured Aviation Events Yesterday.

FIRST ACCIDENT OF THE MEET

Escaped Uninjured With Only Minor Damages to His Machine—Hamilton, Drexel and Brookins Chosen by Aero Club.

New York, Oct. 28.—The crowd at Belmont Park today was all for Ralph Johnstone when, from Middle Island village, Long Island, 55 miles off the country course, he brought back a new American record of 8,751 feet for altitude—the second he has added to his string in the International Aviation meet.

The interest of the aviators was centered on the action of the Aero Club of America, which, after a midnight session, chose Hamilton, Drexel and Brookins early this morning, to defend the Gorden-Bennett International speed trophy. Audemars, in a Demoiselle, suffered the first accident of the tournament today, but came off with no hurt to himself and only minor damages to his machine.

Just before the passenger-carrying cross-country race was started at 4 o'clock this afternoon a mote in the paling sky was seen far to the southeast. It was Johnstone, re-appearing just where he had vanished in yesterday's gale. He circled the fleld and settled in front of the judges' stand, while the crowd waved, cheered and stamped.

From his toes to the tips of his ears Johnstone radiated pleasure. Major Samuel Reber, of the United States signal corps, ran out and grasped his hand. Three officials in the judges' stand, including Cortland Field Bishop, president of the Aero Club of America, joined the group.

"Tell you what, boys," said the hero, "it was just the mercy of Providence that saved my neck. When I thought I was within touching distance of the new world's record, I kind of forgot all about the wind and began to reach out for more height. Then I suddenly said to myself, 'Young man, you better see how much gas you've got.' It is the truth, I had just enough to turn over the two propellors. When I kept her nose up the juice ran down into the engine and she coughed. The minute I pointed down I lost my fuel and she began to miss.

"It was just like shooting the chutes. First I'd take a header, with the power off, and when the wind began to carry me out of control I'd point up a bit, get a little headway, run level for a hundred yards, then dip again. I wasn't scared till I got down to earth and saw what a gale there was. Then I was frightened for fair. The only spot I could find to land in was a patch three times bigger across than the stretch of my wings from tip to tip. While I was tossing pennies with myself the wind turned we clean around and landed me front end backwards, but that was just what saved me. If I'd come down head first the wind would have picked me up, tippled me over and smashed me to pieces."

What fluttered the hangers far more today than a new record or than Johnstone's narrative was the selection early this morning by the Aero Club of America of an American team to defend the Gordon-Bennett international speed trophy. It had been intended to narrow the choice by elimination trials, but windy weather forbade and when the limit named until international rule for the entry of a team appointed, it was necessary to substitute an election. Hamilton with 110 horse power Hamiltonian; Drexel for a 50 horse power Bleriot, and Brookins in the new Wright racer, were named.

Curtiss, who brought the cup to this country, thus has no part in defending it, and his new racer remains untried. It and other dark horses will have a chance to show what they can do in the grand prize speed trials, which carry prizes of $3,000 for first place and $1,000 for second. The American substitutes are Mars, of the Curtiss team; Moisant, with a Bleriot, and Hoxsey, of the Wright team.

The French team consists of Latham with a 100 horse power Antoinette; LeBlanc, with a 100 horse power Bleriot; Auburn with a 50 horse power Bleriot, and Barrier, both with 50 horse power Bleriots for substitutes.

For Great Britain, Grahame-White with a 100 horse power Bleriot; Radley with a 50 horse power Bleriot, are the team, with Ogilvie of the Wright company of Great Britain and McArdle, in a Bleriot as the substitutes.

Against the high powered foreign monoplanes America has but one machine of equal power—Hamilton's 110 horse power bi-plane; but the new Wright racer has been clocked in exceptionally fast time and so good a judge as Radley thinks it ought to retain the cup by virtue of its superior steadiness in banking the curves.

There was no flight to the Statue of Liberty today because of too much wind. Moisant and DeLesseps, both tried, but neither finished. Moisant took up Fred Thompson, the theatrical manager, and left him four miles away in a cabbage patch.

Count de Lesseps took up his brother and landed unhurt in Garden City. He had engine trouble.

Audemars, one of the two men in the world who dares to drive a tiny Demoiselle, took his butterfly out in too strong a wind and was capsized. In attempting to land from a height of not more than ten feet, he struck the earth with his front wheels, bounced into the air and ended by turning a somersault. For a moment the machine stood tail uppermost on the tip of its nose and then turned slowly over on its back. As the crowd jumped onto their feet in horror Audemars leaped out unhurt. He broke the propeller of his machine, smashed the ribs of one wing and threw his engine out of true, but the repairs will not be expensive.

The Liberty flight is still open tomorrow and flights for the Gordon-Bennett cup may begin at any time after 8:30 A. M.

GODWIN-MEARES DEBATE STILL ON

Spoke to a Small Crowd at Whiteville, Columbus Co., Yesterday.

PITCHED ON A HIGH PLANE

Both in Best of Humor and Each Had His Share of the Applause—Next Appointment in Wilmington Monday Night—The Issues

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, Oct. 28.—About 125 voters were present in the court room today to hear the joint debate between Congressman Godwin and Mr. Meares, rival candidates for Congress in this district. The crowd was nearly equally divided between Democrats and Republicans.

Both speakers were at their best, and were given the closest attention. While the speaking lasted about 2 1-2 hours very few left the building unti the close at nearly 3 o'clock. There never was a political debate pitched on a higher plane, and nothing was said to give offense to anyone. Occasional applause interrupted the orators when some especially telling point was scored, like when Mr. Godwin remarked that both himself and Mr. Meares would get what they ewer after, he be elected to Congress and Mr. Meares appointed postmaster at Wilmington, and he would help him secure the place with pleasure if a Democrat had no chance for the appointment.

Mr. Godwin made the opening speech and he carefully delivered a very strong and forceful address. His evident sincerity and deep earnestness added force to what he said.

Mr. Meares is an eloquent speaker, and was applauded when he rose to reply, several Democrats joining in. Mr. Meares said it was 42 years since the days of Reconstruction, and he did not propose to enter into that ancient history. Mr. Meares spoke something over an hour and closed with an eloquent oration. He was loudly applauded. He and Mr. Godwin ate dinner at the same table in the Columbus Hotel. Each complimented the other on making the best speech of the campaign. They will rest up the balance of the week and speak in Wilmington Monday night. The debate was in the best of humor, but we are satisfied that Mr. Godwin's speech made seveal converts from the Republican side.

SHERMAN AT ASHEVILLE.

Vice President Defends the Tariff—Appealed to Democrats.

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 28.—Declaring that while he did not claim perfection for the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill, it was a good measure, Vice President Sherman made the tariff the principal theme of an address here tonight. Leading up to his subject, Mr. Sherman urged his hearers to preserve what he termed the present prosperous era by voting for the retention of a Republican Congress.

The speaker appealed to Southern Democrats to abandon the habit of voting the Democratic ticket because their fathers did. A public reception for the Vice President was held at the Battery Park Hotel.

DEATH AT SPARTANBURG.

Mr. Stobe J. Simpson Passed Away After Long Illness.

Spartanburg, S. C., Oct28.—Mr. Stobe J. Simpson, one of the best known lawyers of the State, died at his home here tonight in the 57 year of his age. He had been seriously ill for several weeks. He was a native of Laurens, S. C., and attended Princeton University in 1871.

Van Courver, B. C., Oct., 28.—Dana B. Gibson, 23 years old, a native of New York, employed in a lumber camp at Lund was shot and killed in the woods yesterday by his companion, Charles S. Young, of Nortn vanCouver. Young mistook Gibson for a deer The homicide is the sixta in British Columbia since the opening of the present hunting season.

THE LAST CHANCE ON BONUS EFFORT

Special Offer Closes at 10 O'clock Tonight and All Votes Must be Turned in Promply.

The Contest Office Will be Open Till Nine O'clock Tonight.

Tonight closes the last special offer of votes in the big contest of the Star. After 9 o'clock tonight the regular schedule of votes will again be adopted and kept up to the end of the contest, and so it behooves every contestant to make this the busiest day of the entire campaign.

The contestants out of town will have the same opportunity as the contestants in town, as every letter received from out-of-town bearing the post mark up to 10 o'clock tonight containing subscriptions, will be counted in the Special offer and an extra vote coupon made out for 18,000 votes and mailed to the contestant, for every $18.00 in subscriptions contained therein.

The smallest prize in this contest will be of great benefit to the winner, as a savings account in the American National Bank will in the future mean more to the winner than they can imagine or one can tell at the present time. The starting of a savings account is the main thing as, once started it is easy to keep adding a little from time to time and it will soon amount to a true value for the effort put forth.

The first grand prize is one that cannot be discounted in anyway as Uncle Sam's currency is always in demand, and the lucky one who secures the $500.00 in cash will have a prize well worth the effort of winning.

The second grand prize is an article that would grace any home anywhere. A piano is something that is appreciable in every sense of the word, and the winner of this perfect toned instrument may well be proud to be the possessor of it, especially considering the comparative small effort it will take to win it. It is now on display in the handsome show windows of I. Shrier, northeast corner Front and Princess.

The third grand prize is one that is seldom put up, and to the winner of it who has never had the opportunity of visiting that charming little island, getting the best of hotel accommodations while there and expenses to and from, will find that she has, at least in her estimation secured the pick of the three. To the one who has been there it will simply be the gladsome repetition of the pleasures already experienced, and will be received by either as a welcome opportunity. The trip to Cuba will be over the fast and famous Coast Line and connecting steamer line at Tampa, Fla.

The last grand prize is by no means the least in any sense, as the famous little Shetland pony is known everywhere, and is as popular as our greatest politician. The pony and rig is from Monmouth, Ill., and will be on display in a few days. The winner of this prize, consisting of the entire outfit, pony, rig and harness, will truly be appreciated by the one who is lucky enough to win it.

The district prizes as they come in order are, One Diamond ring, a delight to any girl or young lady, as the value of diamonds are increasing every year, One Turkish Rocker, a thing of beauty and also a joy forever, handsome serviceable and comfortable, three assurances from the Star that will prove to the winner that she has indeed won a companion that will become to her inseperable, one ladies' Gold watch, of plain or embossed case, of which the winner may take her choice, guaranteed to be serviceable in every way and something that it will be an absolute pleasure to be able to show to your friends, an article that every young lady would be glad to own, as the contest manager believes that only the best is even half good enough in payment for the magnificent effort that has been put forth in this contest.

Distribution of Prizes.

The four grand prizes will be given to the four young ladies who stand with the highest number of votes over the entire contest, while there will be, one diamond ring, one Turkish rocker, one gold watch, and one $25 bank account in the American National Bank, to the ones who stand highest in order in each district.

If that savings account for yourself has not been started, you had better see the American National Bank about it at once, as they make it one of their specialties.

Savings Accounts, like insurance, take care of the widows and orphans, pays the doctor while you need him, and he can afford to come in with that reassuring smile that makes you feel that he is really interested in your welfare, the smile that gives you the encouragement to get well because he knows that the American National Bank stands back of you with a staunchness that never fails.

It pays the groceryman, it pays the rent, it buys the fuel when you need it most, and some day perhaps 'twill pay for that neat little home you spoke about to that faithful little woman, whom you already have, or perhaps is waiting patiently while you plan. And if you are on your feet, it does even more than insurance, for even while you rest from your daily labors it is making money for you at 4 per cent.

The wise woman admires the man who has the savings account, not from a monetary standpoint alone, but for the manly motives, the careful study of his finances, for she realizes that when she is his, all thro' his life she need not suffer, and after his life has gone out there still remains to console her in part for the lost love, the little savings account which by the careful man's care has grown enough perhaps for an able investment on her part whereby she may be independent of charity.

The wise man admires the woman who has a savings account, not alone from a monetary standpoint, for he feels perfectly capable, but from the business standpoint, as he realizes that here is a woman who will not wantonly waste his income be it large or small, and that she will make him a side partner who is capble of seeing the true value of small things. In both it builds up an instinctive feeling of independence that can only be realized by this method.

This is why the contest manager has secured among its other valuable prizes, the bank accounts from the American National Bank, because we realize that if the young women once gets the start of saving it will be easily kept up, and in the end prove to her the most paying investment she could ever make.

Don't forget that tonight at 10 o'clock will close the last extra offer and that every contestant should take advantage of this opportunity to make themselves a winner of one of these valuable prizes.

The Boy's Contest.

The first prize in the boy's contest is one that not every man is the happy possessor of—$50 in gold is something that is highly appreciated over anything else, as it wil bring to the lucky winner a sense of ownership together with a sense of independence that only the cash can give. The gold watches are in every way equal to the ones given to the ladies, and the boy who becomes the possessor of one will have cause to indeed be proud of the results of his efforts. The other watches are of the best workmanship and quality guaranteed to be satisfactory in every way, and while smaller than the first, of course, will give service that will about equal them. Below will be found the count of votes as it stood up to 3 o'clock yesterday:

AFFAIRS IN COLUMBUS.

Democratic Outlook Good—Fair Bluff and the Highway.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, N. C., Oct. 28.—Hon. H. L. Lyon, who has been making Democratic campaign speeches over Columbus county, was seen this morning, and asked about the outlook for Democratic success. Mr. Lyon said he never knew it brighter or the people more enthused and aroused. There were fine turnouts at their meetings, and the speakers given an attentive hearing. It is determined to make Columbus the banner Democratic county in the Sixth District, and our people are working to that end.

Mr. E. H. Harnly, the real estate dealer of Chadbourn, has just returned from a trip to Illinois, where he sold 250 acres of farming land at auction for $40,740. This land is three miles from the railroad and 16 miles from Springfield, and it is no better farming land either, than we have here in Columbus county.

Mrs. C. J. Foreman, who for the past year has had charge of the Columbus Hotel, left this week for Wilmington, and Miss Leonard, who was matron of the Th

ROCKY POINT RUMINATIONS

Col. Pearsall Writes of Many Things Pertinent and Impertinent—Schooner for Lumber Cargo—Truck Crops.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Point, N. C., Oct. 26.—The shrill morning whistle of the peanut picker engine awakens from drowsy slumbers the late morning sleeper. Early, by the crack o' day (it beats the little early riser) the engineer's summons can be heard piping the feeder, the strawbuck, the water-buck, the sacker and other help that make up the crew of the machine, for 125 bushels of peas must be picked each day. About the same hour can be heard the big bass whistle of the cotton gin calling the hands into work, that crop is rapidly being hauled in and sold around 5 cents per pound in the seed. Car loads of seed are being sent off to the oil mills to be bought by the farmer as a source of ammonia and for feed for horses and cattle and butterine, cottolene, sardine and many other preparations for man's stomach. Verily cotton is a wonderful plant and will ever be king for it both clothes and feeds man besides keeping the wheels of commerce well lubricated.

The strawberry situation is well in hand and is well worked. The acreage remains about the same with possibly a slight reduction. The stand of Summer set plants, August and September, is very good. One of our best growers contemplates making a specialty of berries only. He is an all-round farmer, too, who makes everything the soil here will produce, one who lives at home and boards there, but if he places all his eggs in one basket and that strawberries, he will miss many of the good things of life that grace a farmer's table, barn, smokehouse and dairy.

The large three-masted schooner, Edward R. Baird, Jr., Bonnett master, is now at Pier 23, East Rocky Point, being loaded with lumber for Seaford, Del. by John J. Perry & Co., with James B. Burton harbor master. It has been just 247 years since the good ship Barbadoes, Capt. Hilton, made a similar trip, only his was one of exploration, looking for the goods and the country and its beautiful Indian maidens to dispose of his stock of beads and other glittering trinkets. Capt. Hilton came, he saw, he conquered and by using the same methods adopted by present day politicians, he brought from the locker sundry brown packages of liquid joy and thereby dickered with the native chief of the Burgaw Indians for their furs and their best lands that now embrace Greater Rocky Point.

We do not know that Capt. Hilton set the precedent, but do know that wily politicians use the same alluring bait to secure votes ever since that event. Alas, the ruthless invader of the "Monarch of the Forest," the pines, the dark and towering pines that sheltered the Indian maiden and her brave while uttering vows of eternal constancy are being ripped into boards to make Yankee soap boxes and cases for exportation of Rockefeller's Standard Oil to Europe, Asia and the wilds of Africa. This North Carolina pine scatters enlightenment over the dark and unknown parts of the world. Scit Fiat Lux. And Pender pines are helping to do the biz.

Messrs. T. E. Hayes, Howard Peden, T. P. Pearsall and others attended the State Fair at Raleigh and report it as having been one of the best shows yet. Why can't Wilmington, Pender, Columbus, Onslow, Brunswick, bladen and counties contiguous to New Hanover come together and establish a first-class, real agricultural fair? We are the garden spot of the world and could show products of both the sea and land. Big fairs draw big crowds and big crowds spend much money; much money is what moves the busy world. Put that in your pipe and smoke it.

Postoffice Inspector Dawson, an exceedingly clever official, has been on Route No. 1 for the past two days. The idea with him is to again make it daily, and take in a part of New Hanover as heretofore. With the parting of October's Indian Summer rays. Go the last, long lingering scuppernong days. There are a few more yet on topmost tendrils hung. But the joys of the juice exprest will at yuletide be sung.

COMMISSION RESTRAINED.

From Reducing Rates on Lemons From California to Atlantic Seaboard.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 27.—Judges Vandeventer, Sanborn and Adams, in the United States Circuit Court today, handed down an order restricting the Interstate Commerce Commission from putting into effect a reduced rate on lemons from Southern California to the Atlantic seaboard. The opinion further states that the case is one which will shortly go to the newly created commerce court, which must render the final decision in the case.

The lemon rate case was brought by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe and other railroads against the Interstate Commerce Commission. An application for an interlocutory injunction was argued before Judges Sanborn, Vandeventer and Adams last week.

The lemon rate which is challenged by the railroads is what is known as a blanket rate of one dollar a hundred pounds, for the transportation of lemons in carloads from Southern California to any point between the Rocky Mountains and the Atlantic seaboard. The present rate is $1.55 per hundred. In other words the rate is $1 a hundred pounds whether the lemons is destined for Denver, Kansas City, Chicago, Philadelphia, New York or Boston.

This rate was prescribed by the Interstate Commerce Commission last June and it was assailed in the circuit court on the grounds that it is a discriminatory and inequitable rate; that it makes the railroads carry the lemons 3,500 miles at the same rate as for 1,000 or 1,500 miles.

In the opinion of the circuit judges, the enforcement of the rate should be enjoined until its validity can be carefully considered and determined.

FOREST RANGERS.

Examinations in 14 States for Important Public Service.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Washington, Oct. 29.—Examinations opened this morning in 14 far western States, and in Florida, Michigan, Minnesota and Alaska, to fill vacant positions as assistant forest rangers on the National Forests. The examinations are held at National Forest headquarters in all States in which National forests are located, except in Arkansas and Oklahoma, and will last two days.

The positions pay, at entrance, a salary of $1,100 per annum. Men who enter the National Forest work as assistant rangers are eligible for promotion to positions as rangers, and later to the position of forest supervisor, if they are good enugh. The latter position pays a salary of from $1,600 up, and calls both for all-round executive ability and for a certain amount of practical knowledge of forestry. Rangers work under the forest supervisors, often with a particular district in their charge, protecting the forest against fire and trespass, handling much of the minor business with forest users, estimating and scaling timber and enforcing regulations under which purchasers of timber are allowed to cut on the National forests, building trails, supervising the work of forest guards, and on occasion leading forces of temporary employes against forest fires too large to be handled by the regular National forest force.

The forest ranger must therefore first of all be an experienced and vigorous woodsman. In the words of the little pamphlet which the Department of Agriculture sends to persons making inquiry, "Invalids seeking light outdoor employment need not apply." He must be sound bodied, inured to hardships, able to ride, pack, and take care of himself and his horses in the woods and mountains, familiar with the region and local conditions where he seeks employment, and a resident of the State in which he will be appointed. Although the requirements are largely physical and practical, they include both a sufficient general education to qualify the ranger to transact National forest business inteligently, and knowledge of land surveying, mining laws and customs, and the handling of range livestock. In the Southwest some knowledge of Spanish is often necessary.

To secure the right kind of men the examination is largely a test of practical capacity to do things. The candidate must give a demonstration of his horsemanship, ability to pack, knowledge of the use of the compass, and similar matters. Other parts of the test are written examinations. Because of the desirability of securing, in the new rangers, recruits who will prove capable of rising to the higher responsibilities laid upon forest supervisors, the tests of educational qualifications have been strengthened. Thus the government is obtaining picked men for the rank and file of its little army of employes who administer and promote the proper use of its nearly two hundred million acres of National forests.

DEATH AT WASHINGTON.

Miss Anna Phillips Passes—Mr. William Brunson Dead.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Washington, N. C., Oct. 28.—A very sad death occurred in this city last night about 8 o'clock when Miss Anna Ruth Phillips, the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. L. Phillips, passed away after an illness of several weeks from typhoid fever. Miss Phillips was in her 20th year. She was a consistent member of the Methodist church and one of Washington's most lovable young women. The funeral was conducted from the Methodist church this afternoon at 330 o'clock and the interment was in Oakdale cemetery.

William Brinson died at the home of his parents on Water street at 3:30 this morning, 22 years of age. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Brinson.

COULDN'T STAND NOISY CHILDREN

Mrs. Stauffer Says Her Own Children Made Her Nervous, and She Had Scary Dreams.

Wily, Va.—"I was so weak and nervous, I could hardly be up," writes Mrs. Dora Stauffer of this place, "and I could hardly bear the noise of my own children. Often I would lie awake nights, and I had such scary dreams! I fell off a great deal in weight, and grew very weak. Inside of one week, after I began to take Cardui, my pains were better, and in three week I felt like another woman. I feel it my duty to praise Cardui to all suffering women."

If you are weak, nervous and miserable, you are urged to try Cardui, the woman's tonic.

Cardui has a specific action on the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. Being composed of purely vegetable ingredients, and containing no harmful drugs, Cardui cannot possibly injure you.

It's foolish and often dangerous to experiment with new, or slightly tested, medicines. For over 50 years, Cardui has been benefitting delicate, pain-racked women, by the hundreds of thousands.

Thousands of ladies have written to tell of the good it did them.

It may be just what you need. We think it is. Please try it.

On the shelves of 40,000 druggists. Ask yours.

CENSUS FRAUDS AT TACOMA.

Director Durand Grants Request for Re-Enumeration of the City.

Washington, Oct. 27.—Reiterating and emphasizing his previous allegations of fraud in connection with the census of Tacoma, Washington, Director Durand of the Census Bureau, today forwarded to the Tacom committee a letter conceding the request for a re-enumeration of the population of that city.

In making the concession the director makes the condition that no private individual or private organization shall in any way undertake to interfere with or to assist in the work of re-enumeration except in such manner as may be approved by himself.

"It is my intention," he says, "after the enumerators have completed their work as fully as possible, to give the local commercial organizations an opportunity to ascertain whether other names should be added, but until that time no participation whatever or private individuals or organizations will be permitted.

He closes this warning with the positive declaration that any such interference should be attempted the enumeration will cease at once. In the body of his letter Mr. Durand says:

"The re-count is not conceded because of any doubt whatever, as to the existence and great extent of the frauds in the original enumeration. The evidence of such frauds, is overwhelming.

"It is a fact, however, that by reason of the method of frauds pursued the methods of eliminating the fraudulent names, which had to be utilized may have quite likely resulted in the elimination of some names of bona fide residents. The people of Tacoma in the absence of a re-numeration, will always believe that the number of bona fide names thus eliminated was very large and a re-count will furnish the only means by which this question can be properly settled."

Giving then the reasons for his charges, Mr. Durand repeats his original allegations that a large number of the enumerators admitted the addition of thousands of names; that Special Agent McKenzie reported the inclusion of many fictitious names and that the schedules themselves bear evidence of the fraud.

PRESENTED NAVAL TROPHY.

Won by Battleship South Carolina for Target Practice.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 27.—Elaborate ceremonies attended today the presentation to the battleship South Carolina of the naval trophy won by that ship in attaining highest percentage in the Spring and Summer target and maneuvre practices of the Atlantic battleship fleet off the Virginia and Massachusetts coasts.

The presentation occurred aboard the South Carolina at the Norfolk navy yard and was witnessed by the commandant of this naval station as well as by officers of all vessels now here. Capt. Fletcher, commanding the South Carolina, read letters from high naval officials commendatory of the achievements of the South Carolina's crew, who in full dress uniform participated in the ceremonies.

BIG FIRE IN BEAUFORT.

Saw Mill Plant at Belhaven Destroyed During Night.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, N. C., Oct. 27.—News reaches this city of quite a fire at Leechville, this county, last night. The saw mill, dry kilns, sheds, etc., belonging to Mr. J. E. Wilkinson of Belhaven, were totally destroyed by fire. The origin of which is unknown. The lumber burned was the property of Mr. W. H. Wilkinson, of Leechville, who was operating the plant under a lease. The total loss will aggregate more than $8,000 with no insurance. The fire was first discovered between 1 and 2 o'clock in the dry kiln. The mill plant, the dry kiln, the lumber sheds and the lumber was entirely consumed. It is not known whether Mr. Wilkinson will rebuild or not.

It is probable that the hearing of the appeal will be expedited though it may be necessary to postpone the execution.

I wish I were able to go from the East to the Tennessee line and tell this message to all the people. I have not long to live. I have children and grandchildren; but I say to you that no stroke of this right hand shall aid in putting the Republican party over these children and grandchildren. I say it because I have tried it in the past and, having tried it in the past and having found nothing but ruin and disgrace, I cannot help but fight it now.—C. B. Watson.

To steal a Pender county ham would be grand larceny.

The only animosity most Democrats seem to have in this campaign is Mary Annimosity.

Dr. Crippen is about to come to the end of his rope as the chief actor in a spectacular tragedy of which he is the author. If the rope act will ring down the curtain on his performance it were well ordered.

When Republicans refuse to defend their reconstruction and fusion records and decline to throw the calf rope to Marion Butler, they are begging the question. When a fellow puts up his paws and begs off he's done for, Mr. Finnegin.

The obstacles to Republican success in North Carolina are the same obstacles that prevented President Taft from appointing a Republican judge of the Cape Fear District of the Federal Court. That's all we have to say except, Selah.

North Carolinians held a convention in Mecklenburg, May 20, 1775, and declared their independence. Former Populist United States Senator Marion Butler can contemplate that action as a precedent indicating that Tar Heels never would stand for "bondage."

When a man is caught in the act of helping people from the outside to raid the treasury of his State, he ought to know better than try to "come back." We believe a rabbit is about the only "varmint" that doesn't know any better than to "come back" to where he was "jumped."

The young men—"first voters"—hold the balance of power in North Carolina. Their State is in the balance and they should give it the right tip at the ballot box on the 8th of November. Young patriots will be pretty apt to be there with the straight goods bearing the Democratic label.

In the Federal Court at Greenville, S.C., Judge Wm. H. Brawley sentenced Milton A. Carlisle to the penitentiary for a term of five years. Carlisle was a prominent man and banker who was convicted of embezzling the funds of the National Bank of Newberry. A man can make more money by working for it than by stealing and going to the penitentiary. When a man does wrong he will loose both his time and reputation.

The Hon. Iredell Meares, in his joint debates with Congressman H. L. Godwin, repeatedly asserts that Marion Butler is not an issue in this campaign. The anti-Butler Republicans made Butler an issue during their campaign over the State chairmanship of their badly demoralized party, and if he was the issue in their factional fight, why should the Democrats neglect to size up Butler as a most available issue in a campaign of much greater significance than that for the control of the Republican party? Butler seems to be very much an issue, and we do not blame Republicans for squirming rather than face it.

ABSURDITY ADDED TO ABSURDITY.

Vice president James S. Sherman has delivered campaign addresses in several cities in North Carolina within the past few days. He spoke to large crowds at Goldsboro, Raleigh, Greensboro, Charlotte, Salisbury and other places, and in connection with his contentions as to the principles and policies of the Republican party, he has defended the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, coupled with the exploded absurdity that the farmers are under obligations to the tariff law for good prices for their farm products. In his defense of the tariff law he cited present high prices for farm and manufactured products and alleged high wages for labor as beneficial results of protective policies.

Mr. Sherman did this in face of the fact that the Republican campaign book contains a Congressional denial from stand-patters that the tariff is responsible for high prices—the increased cost of living. A Congressional committee was appointed at the last session to investigate causes for the increased cost of living to the point where the people of the United States were in such desperate straits that Congress had to take notice of their condition. The Democrats of that committee found that the tariff law was responsible for the increase of prices on articles and products which were highly protected, and that, therefore, the tariff is responsible very largely for the high cost of living.

The Republican members of that Congressional committee had attempted to hold back the report of the committee till after the election, as they feared the truth would have a bad effect on the Republican party in the election. The Republicans were highly indignant that the Democratic investigators had made their findings public and denounced it as political trickery. Then, forced into a corner, the Republican investigators also published a report absolutely denying that the tariff law placed these burdens on the people and was responsible for high prices.

Now comes Mr. Sherman telling the truth, so far as manufactured articles and highly protected products are concerned, but adding the absurd claim that the price of wages and farm products have been increased by the tariff. Mr. Sherman made these absurd claims in the presence of cotton growers who know that under a high tariff, during McKinley's administration, the price of cotton was the lowest in the history of the cotton industry, and who also know full well that they are getting 14 cents for their cotton because of two short crops following one after the other. The farmers know that not enough cotton has been produced to supply the wants of the world and that the demand for cotton has increased the price and not the tariff, as cotton is not protected. For the same reason, the shortness of the cotton crop, the cotton growers of Egypt and India and other cotton producing portions of the world are getting as much for their cotton as the farmers of the United States. The same holds good as to wheat, for the Rusian wheat growers and growers of wheat in South American countries and other portions of the world are getting the same price for their wheat as are the wheatgrowers in the United States.

So far as wages are concerned, Vice-President Sherman in his speech at Salisbury, made his claims where the cotton mill operatives in the Piedmont have been getting no wages at all, because the mills have been closed down for a large part of two years during disastrous depression under the Republican high protective tariff laws. It happens that right where Mr. Sherman attempted to fool the people about wages the employes and some of the cotton mills had gotten out a signed card denouncing the Republican party and declaring their future allegiance to the Democratic party. They declare that they had been voting the Republican ticket, both State and National, but they had been fooled as to prosperity, high wages and plenty of work, for they have had a hard time making a living and still have no work under the tariff which Sherman had boosted as guaranteeing to them a prosperity which they were not getting. The demand for labor and the opportunity for its employment regulates its price, and the price for labor varies, not because of the tariff but because of the activities calling for labor. If there is nothing doing labor gets no wages, big or little, tariff or no tariff.

North Carolina campaigners will view with alarm the announcement that Mount Vesuvius has come forward with an eruption that wont brook opposition.

Mot Morehead mistook Marion Butler for the equilibrator of North Carolina Republicanism, little dreaming it was loaded after the manner of a double-back-action boomerang.

So far as Col. John Pierpont Morgan is concerned the interest rates will be the same whether the Republicans or Democrats win. Some men always attend strictly to their own business.

BUTLER TREED.

Like Polonius, Marion Butler protested overmuch that he had anything to do with prosecuting any repudiated bond claims against North Carolina except in the case of the State of South Dakota which got a verdict against the State and raked a good many thousands of dollars from the State treasury. Butler has been obnoxiously active on the stump throughout the State, fairly fuming and giving vent to malicious charges against decent Democrats and challenging them to a joint debate, which they declined because a discussion with a politician of Butler's record would degenerate into a joint wrangle of a personal nature instead of a debate of the vital issues upon which the people need instruction.

Butler has engaged in a campaign of villification and his speeches have been bitter, vindictive and unworthy of polite attention from those whose political character it has been his aim to assassinate. It turns out that Senator Simmons and other distinguished Democrats, who refused to give Butler recognition enough to debate with him, were right. They have been justified by both existing circumstances and final developments which prove the unworthiness of Butler to be recognized as a campaigner on equal footing with reputable Democratic statesmen and politicians.

Butler heretofore has admitted his connection with the South Dakota bond case, which would itself consign any man to infamy, but he justifies his action on the ground that the South Dakota bonds constituted a just claim against the State.

However, while Butler was a United States Senator, holding that honor from North Carolina, he plotted with the bondholders and engaged in the scheme of instigating a sister State to sue the State which had honored him. Just or not just, as to the claims of the bonds in the South Dakota case, there was both impropriety and shame in Butler's connection with it. The scheme and the manner of it was bad and would have been reprehensible in shyster lawyers outside of North Carolina much less one born in the State and enjoying distinction and honor unworthily bestowed at her hand. However, let all that past, for the truth has come out in a different direction and in a manner to blacken the record of Marion Butler worse than his bitterest enemies could have hoped for.

While acknowledging his share in the dirty work done with South Dakota as the monkey in the case of raking out the chestnuts, Butler has shrieked and beat his bosom and howled out denials that he had anything to do with any claims connected with the fradulent carpet bag bond issues which were repudiated and which he acknowledged were unjust. He even called honored men liars and posed as a slandered man, but he protested one time too many.

The truth will out and it has come out finally in such a way as to overwhelm Butler and put him to shame. The State was pretty well satisfied that Butler needed no further exposure and that his defense of himself was in vain, but on Taursday the Raleigh News and Observer gave him a double dose of "pokeberry justice." That dose was a plenty. Under flaring boxhead leters printed in red, was this proclamation: "Butler Caught in the Carpetbag Bond Scheme." Then followed indisputable proof of the truth which the Sampsonian had been so vehemently denying. Here is the proof:

(New York Evening Post, April, 1905.)

The Collection of State Bonds Repudiated in Whole or in Part.

The recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, entitled "South Dakota vs. North Carolina," wherein the former State secured a judgment against the latter on ten bonds, par value, $10,000, amounting with interest to $27,400 (which has just been paid) has greatly enhanced the value of all other repudiated State bonds, because it has established the law and the procedure by which they can be enforced.

The undersigned committee, in 1901 Pooled all of one issue of North Carolina bonds and originated the plan by which the above successful results were brought about, and obtained a settlement for the individual bondholders, at a little less than par, of their entire holdings of these bonds.

This committee is now ready to proceed with the collection of all other repudiated bonds of every class, of each State.

This committee has no conection with other committee, and it knows that it alone is now in a position to avail itself of the benefits of the above mentioned decision.

Those who desire to enforce the collection of their bonds will deposit the same with the North American Trust Company, 195 Broadway, New York York City, and receive receipts therefor and a contract agreement under which the undersigned committee will undertake to collect the same.

We had seen that advertisement long ago but had forgotten it and no doubt Butler had hoped everybody else had forgotten it, but it seems that the "Old Reliable" is unforgetting and has a knack of raking up things and making them fresh. This expose settles Marion Butler once for all. His signature is attached to his condemnation. It is plain and any further denial from him is useless. All the circumstances and the facts in the case signed by "Marion Butler" make the record against him without a flaw and it is now in the hands of the jury.

Butler may be so wily that he will attempt to deny his denials that he had anything to do with the carpetbag bonds, but in a speech at Charlotte October 1, referring to a declaration made by Senator Simmons, he said: "When he published the lie that I was attorney for carpetbag bonds, I knew that they tried to employ me to represent those carpetbag bonds and I refused to be employed, and further told them that the bonds were not honest, and I not only would not be attorney but would oppose any and every attempt to collect them."

The "Advertisement" in the New York Evening Post, April, 1895, signed by Marion Butler and his associates, shows whether there is any truth in Butler's heated denials. It is a case of Butler's having to take his own medicine and wear his own brand.

As we have heretofore remarked, people who have to fan the flies off their record should not run for office or venture forth as spielers.

Says a contemporary: "Mr. Roosevelt's record is an open book that may be read by any man." However, what good is it if it never reaches "The End"?

CURRENT COMMENT.

Mr. Morehead is all right, but he has tied up with a bad lot, and so will any man who undertakes to make a business of politics.—Durham Herald.

We hope that the pathfinders on their return trip from Charlotte to Wilmington were well enough pleased with this section to give the Rowland route a favorable recommendation.—Rowland (N. C.) Sun.

Marion Butler, as an "equilibrator" of the Radical party in North Carolina, is proving as destructive as the string of trailing gasolene tanks tied to Walter Wellman's dirigible airship, the "America."—Riedsville Review.

Iredell Meares has written another letter to Governor Aycock. The average voter will not take time to read it; and if he should, he would not know any more when he finished than when he begun.—Rowland (N. C.) Sun.

The Democratic party wants to see the Republican party in this State a respectable party—that is why we took the negro off of it. Now, in this latter affliction we appeal to you Republicans to help us take Butler off you.—Mount Olive (N. C.) Tribune.

In Senator Simmons' speech at Asheville, reported in The Observer yesterday, he discussed a New York Evening Post advertisement of five years ago which contained ex-Senator Marion Butler's name as one of a committee offering to collect carpetbag bonds. His comment was scorching. It behooved to be, for anything short of coarse abuse could hardly exceed the requirement. That is, supposing ex-Senator Butler responsible for the appearance of his name in this connection—and, so far as we know, he has never seen his way clear to deny it at all. This campaign incident, whose basis had been strangely overlooked until a few days ago, will have an explosive effect. It will make the danger of again placing ex Senator Butler in a position of power so obvious that even the blind may see. Mr. Butler, while a United States Senator from North Carolina, took money to use his political influence and position to the detriment of the State. This action affected bonds concerning which there had been a dispute with some few bondholders who made special demands. They were not carpet-bag bonds, but the means of attempted collection were the same for each class and one step was regarded merely as preparatory to the other. Mr. Butler's course would have been disgraceful even if such a connection had not existed. But it did exist, and obviously. Upon no other man do the speculative syndicates holding carpet bag bonds pin, today, one half so much hope. A Morehead-Butler victory would be a Butler victory and a Butler opportunity. Politically the Republican State chairman is the merest tyro in comparison. Does any one want Mr. Marion Butler given the chance to compromise fatally the State's position by formal admissions and concessions, so that the State will have no choice left between payment and disgrace? Does any one think it would be wise or safe from any standpoint, even if no carpet-bag bonds existed, to make Mr. Marion Butler the most powerful person in the State? If he does, let him vote the Morehead-Butler ticket from Supreme Court candidates down.—Charlotte Observer.

BACK TO THE SOIL.

Problem of Over-Congestion Being Worked Out in Mexico.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 29.—The "back to the soil" problem is being worked out in behalf of the poor in the overcrowded districts of the large cities in America and Europe on a scale that promises to become tremendous in scope, in Northern Chihuahua, across the border of the Rio Grande in Mexico. It is the practical test of the problem that has been bothering social workers for years. At Candelaria, a small station on the line of the National Railways of Mexico, Archbishop Joseph Rene Vilatte, head of the Orthodox, or old Catholic church in America, is establishing a colony where the population of the foreign quarters of the large cities of the United States and the immigrants from foreign countries may find a home and in a comparatively short time become independent. The church has purchased 50,000 acres of land, has established a town, laid the cornerstone for a church and established a school for the colonists who are to settle the land and cultivate the soil. The invitation to join the colony is not confined to the members of this church, but applies to the people of all cities and countries. Each rancher will have a ten-acre tract for the growing of his crops and also an acre of ground in the town of Vilatteville, where he will erect his home. Irrigation isby means of artesian wells. The immigrants are coming from France, Italy and other countries of Europe ,and also from Chicago, New York, and other large American cities. The land is to be sold at cost on long time. The archbishop is a native of France, having been born in Paris. He is a graduate of the University of Montreal and has been decorated by the French and Belgium governments for his humanitarian work among the natives of these countries in America.

ENGINEER MAKES REPORT

Surveys and Estimates of Cost of Draining Macomber's Ditch—Action Deferred Until Next Week—Citizens Heard.

The proposition to drain Macomber's ditch, in the eastern section of the city, long a menace to the public health of the community, again claimed the major portion of the time of the Commissioners of Streets in regular semi-monthly session at the City Tall yesterday afternoon from 3:30 until 6 o'clock. City Engineer Humphreys, authorized at the last meeting to make surveys and prepare plans and profiles, together with an estimate of the cost of the work, made his report, showing two routes, either of which would be practical, the one to cost $43,736.80 and the other $40,540. Action was deferred until a later meeting and members of the commission will go in person Tuesday afternoon to Macomber's ditch to get a more intelligent idea of the proposed work.

The meeting convened at 3:30 o'clock with Chairman Louis Belden presiding and Commissioners Heyer, Parsley and Brady, Clerk J. F. Gause, City Engineer Humphreys and a large delegation of citizens in attendance, among the latter being Messrs. J. A. Taylor, Marsden Bellamy, F. W. Bonitz, George Rountree, R. N. Northrop, Thos. H. Wright, H. F. Wilder, Herbert McClammy, Hon. John D. Belamy and others.

The citizens were present to hear the report of the city engineer in reference to the proposed improvement of Macomber's ditch and to again urge upon the Commission the importance of doing this work without further delay. Therefore the report of the engineer was the first thing taken up. The report was as follows:

"Wilmington, Oct. 27, 1910.

"Commissioners of Streets, Wilmington, N. C.

"Gentlemen:—Complying with the resolution adopted by your commission at a meeting held October 14th, ordering me to make a survey and prepare plans and profiles for the proposed sewering of Macomber's ditch and estimating the cost of same, I hereby submit the following:

"The area of that part of Wilmington which is naturally drained by Macomber's ditch is 661 acres. The greatest rainfall recorded in Wilmington during the past 35 years is eight inches, 50 per cent. of which is assumed to run into the pipe lines. Taking this into consideration with the general slope of the ground from Queen street to Miller street, the following sizes of pipes are necessary to drain the water in 24 hours. From Oakdale cemetery bridge to Dock street, a five-foot pipe; from Dock street to Nun street, a four-foot, six inch pipe; from Nun street to Queen street, a four-foot pipe.

"On an attached blue print is shown two proposed pipe lines lettered respectively 'ABC' and 'ABD'. 'ABC' follows as nearly as possible the route of the present ditch; 'ABD' follows the streets which are nearest the present ditch. Profiles of the two proposed routes are also shown on the attached blue print, as well as cross section of the proposed pipe line.

"If route 'ABC' is adopted the following material and excavation are necessary: From cemetery bridge to Dock street, 2,700 feet 5-inch pipe at $7.50, $19,710; from Dock street to Nun street, 1,490 feet 4 1-2-inch pipe at $6.60, $9,834; from Nun street to Queen street, 1,404 feet 4-inch pipe at $6, $8,424; total excavation 6,430 cubic yards at 40 cents, $2,572; total cost of sewer, $40,540.

"If route 'ABD' is adopted the following material and excavation are necessary: 2,700 feet 5-inch pipe at $7.30, $19,710; 1,816 feet 4 1-2-inch pipe at $6.60, $11,985.60; 1,384 feet 4-inch pipe at $6, $8,304; total excavation $9,343 cubic yards at 40 cents, $3,737.20; total cost of sewer, $47,736.80.

"Route 'ABC' is shorter by 306 lineal feet and is cheaper by $3,296.80, but I believe route 'ABD' is the route which should be adopted, as by the latter route no pipe line will be laid on private property.

"Respectfully submitted,

"C. R. HUMPHREYS,

"City Engineer."

At the conclusion of the reading of the report Chairman Belden stated that it occurred to him that the next thing in order was for the property owners to get together and decide how much of the cost they would be willing to pay in the event the commission took favorable action. He suggested that the property owners abutting should pay two-thirds of the cost of the improvement and the city, that is, the commission, the other one-third.

Mr. J. A. Taylor, who does not own any property in the vicinity of Macomber's ditch, but who has a citizen's interest in the proposed improvement, said that he did not agree with Chairman Belden in his opinion as to equalization of the expense. He considered that one-half of the cost would be a big plenty for the property owners to pay, and thought that one-third would be nearer right. Mr. Taylor said that it was proper for the commission to say how much of the expense it would bear so that the committee representing the property owners would have something definite upon which to work in approaching the other property owners to share in the cost of the improvement.

Marsden Bellamy, Esq., called attention to the fact that the money in the hands of the Street Commission is from the sale of bonds authorized by a vote of the people of Wilmington for the purpose of improving the streets and the act creating the commission and authorizing the sale of bonds provides that the citizens shall not be assessed for any portion of the work except in increased taxes on account of enhancement of the value of their property. Mr. Bellamy said this should be taken into consideration in reaching a decision as to the amount the commission would require the property owners to pay toward the Macomber's ditch improvement.

Mr. Thos. H. Wright, who owns two of the 40 or 50 blocks affected by the ditch, was called upon by Chairman Belden and made a strong talk in favor of the work. He was followed by City Attorney Herbert McClammy, who said that he had recently given the matter careful consideration, and that he had come to the conclusion that an equitable adjustment of the cost of the work would be for the property owners to pay 40 per cent., the Street Commission 40 per cent., and the city of Wilmington, independent of the Street Commission, the remaining 20 per cent. Chairman Belden said that if the property owners would pay 40 per cent. the Board of Aldermen and Audit and Finance jointly, acting for the city, 20 per cent. the Street Commission would bear the remainder of the cost. George Rountree, Esq., who does not own property in the vicinity of the ditch, appeared at the request of a number of citizens and urged the importance of the improvement. He suggested that the commission adopt a resolution to the effect that it would pay so much of the cost if the property owners would pay the remainder and give the property owners 30 days in which to raise the amount and then return to the commission with the money. He thought Mr. McClammy's suggestion a good one but for the fact that he could not understand why it was necessary to divide the cost between the Street Commission and Board of Aldermen, taking the position that all the money in the hands of the several commissions belong to the city, and whether the amount was divided between the two bodies representing the city or all was paid by one, the money comes from the tax payers. Mr. Rountree thought that there are too many commissions. In conclusion he said that the commission could do nothing that would justify its existence more than to improve Macomber's ditch.

Chairman Belden said that he was heartily in favor of Mr. McClammy's proposition and would advocate its acceptance. Hon. John D. Bellamy concurred in the results, but not in the means of getting the results. In other words, he was opposed to the proposition to assess the property owners for the work, certainly not as much as 40 per cent., and declared that he for one would not pay 40 per cent., though he would pay a reasonable portion if the improvement could not be secured in any other way. Chairman Belden said that the Commission did not propose to assess any one; that it was up to the property owners to decide among themselves how much of the expense they would bear. Alderman Fred W. Bonitz suggested that the ditch be converted into a sewer and the cost be divided between the Water and Sewerage and the Street Commission, with whatever aid could be secured from the property owners, for sooner or later, he said, a sewer line will have to be put down in that section. Mr. Bonitz gave in detail his idea of how the work should be done and City Engineer Humphreys said that his plan was not practicable.

At this juncture the citizens retired and the discussion of the question was dropped for the time being. Later in the meeting, upon the suggestion of Mr. Parsley, it was decided that the commission meet at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of visiting the section affected by Macomber's ditch in company with the engineer, following which they will take some action, it is thought.

Mr. J. H. Kuck appeared before the commission and requested that Sixth street, from Martin to Kidder, be opened so as to give him access to his property, upon which he contemplates locating a manufacturing enterprise. Upon motion of Mr. Parsley the city engineer was instructed to take the grade and make estimate of the amount of material to be removed to make the street passable and advertise for bids for the work.

A petition, largely signed, was presented from the citizens of Queen street, asking that Queen street, from the river to 17th, be graded and paved. The commission having previously decided not to do any street work until the new sewerage system is installed by the Water and Sewerage Commission, the petition was filed for future action.

The condition of the bridge across the Seaboard tracks at Fourth street was again brought up and discussed. The bridge was recently repaired by the railroad company at the request of the commission. The work not being satisfactory to the city engineer the chief engineer of the road came here a few days ago and held a conference with City Engineer Humphreys and Chairman Belden and they visited the bridge together. Defects were called to the attention of the chief engineer who ordered that they be remedied. When the matter was before the commission some weeks ago a rsolution was adopted to the effect that the board would require an iron bridge across Fourth street or a new bridge at Fifth street, so that when one was not in condition to be used the other would be, and members of the board saw no reason yesterday why they should not stand by their former action. It was said that the board could not require the railroad to build an iron bridge at Fourth street, but could demand an iron bridge across Fifth street. The chairman was instructed to write the general manager of the road asking a reply to the letter containing a copy of the resolution referred to above, and postponed further action until the next meeting.

The bond of the Southern Construction Company, of Burlington, awarded the contract for the construction of the bridge across the tracks of the A. C. L. at Sixth street, has been received, but as it was improperly drawn was returned for corrections. It is expected back in a few days.

Captain Belden inquired why it was that the fire department responds to alarms beyond 17th street, Carolina Heights, when the residents of that suburb pay no city taxes. Other members of the commission said that they would also like an answer to the question. Chairman Belden appointed Commissioner Heyer to approve the bills for the ensuing month.

WANTED IN SOUTH CAROLINA

Pat Houston, of This City, Arrested on Bench Warrant for Assault With Intent to Kill—In Jail Without Bond.

Arrested in this city yesterday morning by Deputy Sheriff A. T. Piver on a bench warrant from Darlington county, South Carolina, Pat Houston, son of Mr. G. W. Houston, proprietor of the Big Ike Shoe Shop, is in the county jail without bond awaiting the arrival of an officer from Darlington, where the young man will have to answer the charge of assault with intent to kill and carrying concealed weapons, alleged to have been committed on the 27th of October, 1909.

The young man, who is an expert shoe repairer, admitted to officers that he had some trouble with a young man in Darlington, where he formerly had a shoe shop, some months ago and expressed a willingness to return to South Carolina for trial without requisition papers. According to his statement the trouble occurred in his shoe shop and he struck the young man with whom he had a quarrel with one of the tools used in the shop. As a result of the fight he was arrested for assault with intent to kill and carrying concealed weapons and was in jail in Darlington for about ten days, when he gave $400 bond for his appearance at trial, but did not appear for trial. At the October term of court at Darlington a few days ago it was ordered that a bench warrant be issued for him and this was received here yesterday. In conformity with the North Carolina statute a warrant was sworn out before Justice Harriss by Deputy Sheriff Piver and the same attached to the bench warrant from South Carolina and the papers were then served upon the young man. After looking up the law and obtaining the advice of County Attorney Marsden Bellamy the justice announced that the young man would have to be committed to jail without bond. It is believed that Houston will return to South Carolina without requisition papers, but if he decides not to the proper steps to secure his return to the Palmetto State will be taken by Darlington county authorities. Geo. L. Peschau, Esq., has been employed by the defendant.

It was stated later in the day that the young man would not return to South Carolina without requisition papers. The sheriff immediately wired the Darlington authorities of the arrest of Houston and a reply was received a short time later asking that he be held and stating the necessary steps to secure his return to South Carolina would be taken. The warrant sworn out before Justice Harriss alleges that Houston is a fugitive from justice, based upon the bench warrant from South Carolina.

Geo. L. Peschau, Esq., who represents the defendant, lodged several motions for dismissal before Justice Harriss yesterday afternoon. He first set out that the affidavit did not contain sufficient evidence of the finding of an indictment in South Carolina for any offense the punishment of which exceeds one year. The motion was overruled. He then moved to dismiss on the ground that the affidavit on its face showed that the defendant was charged with several offenses, the aggregate punishment for which might exceed 12 months, but that the several punishments would not exceed or reach 12 months. He further moved that there was no evidence so far as the affidavit showed which alleged or intimated that the assault with intent to kill and the carrying of a concealed weapon were one and the same offense under section 130 of the criminal Code of South Carolina. The motions were overruled. Mr. Peschau then tendered a bond to insure the defendant's presence within this jurisdiction should the Governor issue requisition and providing further that the defendant would not leave this jurisdiction for six months, or until the Governor determined what he would do with him so far as the charges in South Carolina are concerned. The justice decided that he had no right to accept a bond, therefore the defendant is in the county jail pending further developments.

FINAL PLANS FOR CAMPAIGN

Membership Committee of Y. M. C. A. Meets for Lunch and Arranges for Pushing Membership Contest—Supper Monday.

The membership committee of the Y. M. C. A. met in the boys' room for lunch last evening and worked out the final plans for the membership campaign which will be vigorously pushed next week and it is hoped that by Friday night, when the contest closes, the 700 mark will have been reached.

It was the concensus of opinion that the Y. M. C. A. should have at least 700 members and the committee expressed its willingness to strive for this number by Friday evening. The committee decided to give a luncheon in the rooms of the association Monday night and invite about 75 of the leading business men and young men who are interested in the development of the work, at which a number of interesting short addresses will be made. Invitations to the event will be sent out today.

In outlining the contest rules and the facts concerning the membership, Secretary J. B. Huntington brought out the fact that the membership is paying about one-third of the running expenses of the work and declared it ought to look like a business proposition for one-third its value. It was also noted that the membership fee will be advanced after the contest closes, which means a saving of $2 if a membership is taken now.

There will be an exhibition game of basket ball in the gymnasium at 8:30 tonight and will be open to the public. This is the first game of the Winter and will doubtless be largely attended. The league teams will be organized during the coming week in the Senior, Junior and Busy Men's classes.

FLOATED FOR FOUR MONTHS.

Bottle Containing Note Thrown Overboard From Sea King

After floating on the sea for over four months, probably brought back to shore by the recent hurricane, a bottle containing a note thrown overboard from the tug Sea King on the 21st of last June was received yesterday by Captain Edgar Williams, the master of the tug, from a fisherman at Little River, S. C., who recovered it on the 21st of this month. While the Sea King was coming back to her home port from Brunswick, Ga., where she received repairs Capt. Williams tossed three sealed bottles containing the notes and pictures of the tug overboard and the one sent back to him was thrown from the vessel near Cape Romain, S. C.

The note, an interesting reminder of the trip read as follows "Tuesday, June 21st, 1910. This bottle was thrown overboard from tug Sea King off Cape Romain, S. C., at 12 noon. if anyone finding this, will send the paper to Capt. Edgar Williams, Wilmington, N. C., with their name and place, will receive one dollar."

J. T. Lewis, a fisherman at Little River, S. C., picked up the bottle near Watts Island, west of Little River Inlet, while he was on one of his fishing trips last week. Capt. Williams received it yesterday and will forward the reward. Two other bottles containing notes were thrown overboard while the Sea King was bound between Brunswick and Wilmington, one off Tybee Island, Savannah, and the other off St. Simon's Island, Bruneswick.

WORKING WOMEN.

Here is a Helping Hand—A Newton Woman's Experience.

You know just how it is yourself—when you are tired out, perhaps a little run-down, and hardly able to drag around, life is a burden, you are irritable, nervous, depressed and every little task seems like a mountain.

Miss Katharine Burns, of Newton, Mass., says—"About six months ago I was in a run-down condition and my blood was very poor. I had taken several medicines prescribed by physicians, but they seemed to do me no good. Finally Vinol was recommended, and from the first bottle I noticed a great improvement. I have taken six bottles and I feel as well as ever, and I would recommend Vinol to anybody needing a good tonic to build them up and make them strong." (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.)

We want to ask every woman who finds herself in this condition to try Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, without oil, with the understanding that their money will be returned if it does not help them.

We know Vinol will create an appetite, aid digestion, make pure, rich blood, and in this way build up and strengthen the run-down, overworked, nervous system. You take no chances. Try it.—Robert R. Bellamy, Druggist, Wilmington, N. C.

PLEASING ENTERTAINMENT GIVEN AT GRACE CHURCH.

An altogether interesting and pleasing entertainment was given in the parlors of Grace Methodist Church last night under the auspices of the Junior Baracas. The entertainment was entitled "The Old and the New" and the idea was well carried out, the programme and other features varying to that extent. The audience was not as large as had been hoped for but was very appreciative. The exercises began with a piano duo by Mrs. H. E. O'Keef and Miss Jennie Corbett, which was very charmingly rendered. This was followed by a pleasing recitation by Miss Blanche Penny. The whistling solo by Miss Elibeth Otten proved most enjoyable. The accompaniment was played by Mrs. Otten. "Song Without Words" was given by Claude Cooper, followed by a solo by Earl Penny, supported by the Baraca chorus and quartette, this concluding the programme of exercises, which gave way to delicious refreshments, served by little girls and older ladies, the latter being dressed in old fashioned costumes, and were Mesdames James Howard, D. W. Bulluck, B. H. Houston, Ida Hankins and W. F. Corbett. Two grab bags filled with candy were carried by Mrs. Utley King, attired in modern costume, and Miss Jennie Corbett, dressed to represent the Civil War period. A small admission was charged and quite a neat sum was realized from the entertainment.

Robert Brown, colored, aged 30, a driver employed by the Springer Coal Company, had his right leg broken yesterday morning on the yard at foot of Chestnut street, when a loaded wagon turned over, catching him between the wagon and a coal car. Punke to satisfy a judgment given the plaintiff for $90 as commission on wharf property sold a few days ago. The execution was served by Constable Savage, who closed Mr. Punke's store on Fourth street, near the railroad bridge. Mr. Punke claimed the homestead exemption allowed by law and Messrs. W. E. Yopp, J. H. Thomas and A. Silverman were named as the board of appraisers. They found in the store goods to the amount of only $82.39. The property was then turned over to Mr. Punke.

REPRESENTS LUMBERMAN.

Staff Corespondent of Publication Here —Getting Wilmington Views.

Mr. J. A. Joseph, staff representative of the American Lumberman, of New York, recognized as one of the foremost publications of this kind in the United States, is spending a few days in Wilmington. Mr. Joseph travels each year in the South throughout the section where the lumbermen have interests.

Mr. Joseph carries his camera with him and will get some Wilmington views along the river for his publication. The domestic exports of lumber from this port, is second to foreign exports of cotton, and the lumber shipments by water have been heavy during the past few months.

ANOTHER MILLION CARGO.

British Steamer Jura Clears For Liverpool With Cotton Staple.

And still another million dollar cargo of cotton is cleared from the port of Wilmington. The British steamer Jura, Capt. Fellows, cleared last night and will proceed from the compresses this morning at daylight for Liverpool England, having snugly stowed away in her hold 14,243 bales of King Cotton, valued at $1,060,000, both the cargo and vessel being by Messrs. Alexander Sprunt & Son, the largest individual exporters of cotton in the world. The port is making a great record this year in the dispatch of cargoes of cotton and is probably equalled thus far by no other on the South Atlantic Coast.

DIRECTORIES FOR PUBLIC.

WEEKLY CLUB SHOOT.

Number of Marksmen Took Turn at Traps Yesterday Afternoon.

The regular weekly trap shoot of the Wilmington Gun Club was held yesterday afternoon and although high winds contributed anything else but ideal conditions, some very good scores were made. Messrs. Robbins, of the Peters' Cartridge Co., and Mr. Barnes, of the U. M. C., were the trade representatives present. The following were the scores, out of a possible 50: Penny 45; Dreher 39; Boushee 36; Taylor 40; Barnes 43; Jarman 30; Brown 21; Meares 3; Robbins 39; Grant 39. As the Fall approaches there is increased interest in the sport and some very good shots are being developed among Wilmington Club members.

Beehler Umbrella Agency.

Mr. I. Shrier, the well known clothier and gents' furnisher at northeast corner of Front and Princess streets, has accepted the agency for the famous Beehler umbrellas and has a neat display of the same in his show windows. These umbrellas are manufactured by William Beehler, Baltimore, Md., the house having been founded in 1828. These umbrellas are made with collapsible staffs so that they may be folded up and put in the suit case or trunk and where it is desired the name of the owner is placed on the inside, guaranteeing against loss and theft.

Theatrical

In the days before he grew too lazy to write anything at all, Mr. Rudyard Kipling turned out several amusing and interesting stories concerning the character and conduct of "My Lord, the Elephant." His story of Mont Guj, the big elephant who struck work when his mahout didn't return to him on the promised day, and the one about that mad tusker that Mulvaney rode through the streets of Delhi, are classics, while little Toomai will never be forgotten. Mr. Kipling could do something with Little Hip, the greatest elephant on earth and now touring the country with Frederic Thompson's great American play, "Polly of the Circus."

Little Mark Twain's jumping frog, there are apparently no points about Little Hip to distinguish her from any other elephant, but she is a superior animal just the same. She is about 20 years of age, and is still a sprightly young thing, but the chief point of interest in her character is that a long as there is any water or hay around the car, stable or theatre, Little Hip will never go hungry or thirsty. If the keeper never went anywhere near her for several days she should get plenty to eat and drink.

One day keeper Fosse, who has charge of the animal car with the show, was a little late in geting around to attend the wants of the elephant and the others, and when he arrived at the car Little Hip was drinking from the tap. She had grown tired of waiting, opened her stall door and turned on the water. The next day about drinking time, the keeper waited in ambush to see what Little Hip would do. The door has a lock, but no latch, and he left it closed but unlocked. Presently he saw Little Hip worm out through the bars, grip the edge of the corner of the door and pull it open. Then she gave a screw tap a couple of turns, and when the water began to flow helped herself to a long drink. Like most men who work with elephants for any length of time—and Keeper Fosse has been at it for ten years—Fosse has an admiration for his charges that almost reaches affection.

"They got more brains than most human beings, and as long as they are healthy you are perfectly safe with them," he says. "I never had anything like a dangerous experience.

This production will be seen at the Academy next Monday night.

Seats will go on sale at Plummer's Tuesday morning.

At the Bijou Today.

Three excellent pictures will constitute the bill at the Bijou today. They are "An Unselfish Love," "The Troubles of a Flirt" and "Jewish Types in Russia." The former is a story of Western Canada and is interesting; the second is a colored realistic drama relating the annoyances caused by a flirt, and the last named is an educational film of great interest, showing briefly, types of the Jewish race in Russia.

At Joyland.

There will be an especially large programme for today at Joyland, one of the best comedies that has ever been shown at this popular little theatre. "Levy the Cop," which is a laugh from start to finish and one of those Bisen films from the Western show, "A Cow Boy for Love," that is thrilling from start to finish. Don't miss it. Programme changes daily.

WATERWAY MEETING SOON.

National Rivers and Harbors Congress —Delegates from Wilmington.

Delegates will be named from the Chamber of Commerce to represent Wilmington at the seventh annual meeting of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, which convenes in Washington on the 7th of December and will be in session for three days.

Secretary J. A. McGeachy yesterday received an invitation from the committee and he will likely be one of the delegates to go from here. A long letter was sent in connection with the invitation in which it was recalled that at the last session of Congress an annual appropriation for rivers and harbors was favored. This is one of the accomplishments since the last session of the Congress. The Congress is strongly urging a "waterway policy," and not a waterway project, as it often referred to. The Congress will be held in the convention hall of the New Willard hotel and the opening address will be by President Taft.

TOO MUCH LIKE GAMBLING.

Four Games of Chance at Carnival Grounds Stopped by Officers.

Noticing four games of chance in which the element of gambling entered too strongly in operation on the carnival grounds, corner Fourth and Castle streets, last night, Constable W. B. Savage went over to the operators and told them that they would have to close up business for a season, at least until they strike some other town where the officers of the law are not so zealous. Without any ado the operators quietly took down their machines and packed them away for service perhaps at the State fair in Columbia next week. One of the machines, said the officer, was arranged so that there were seven chances, four in favor of the operator, while another gave the operator nine out of every ten.

Several other games of chance on the grounds were permitted to continue as one always gets something from them in return for his money. The officer said that the men operating the four devices closed by him must have arrived yesterday as they were not on the grounds Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

BACK FROM THE SYNOD.

Rev. Dr. McClure and Rev. J. S. Crowley Returned Yesterday.

Rev. A. D. McClure, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and Rev. J. S. Crowley, pastor of Immanuel Church, returned last evening from Rocky Mount, where they attended the sessions of the Presbyterian Synod, which adjourned yesterday afternoon to meet next year in Charlotte. Rev. Dr. Wells, pastor of the First Church, remained in Rocky Mount to make an address last night on missions. He will go to Rock Fish Presbyterian Church, Wallace, today and deliver an address on prayer before the ladies of the Presbyterian Union in session there. He will return to Wilmington from Wallace.

IRREGULAR IN COTTON MARKET

Trade Was Less Active and Market Continued Nervous—Opened Steady at Advance—Closed 13 Points Decline.

New York, Oct. 28.—While fluctuations were not so violent and trading was rather less active of the average, the cotton market continued very nervous and irregular today closing steady at a net decline of 4 to 13 points, generally 4 to 6 points lower on the active months. The market opened steady at an advance of 1 to 5 points on a renewal of yesterday's covering movement and some fresh buying inspired by the appearance of the expected low temperatures in the Western part of the belt.

The cold weather news had reached Liverpool before the local opening and the cables were a little better than due, but offerings here were very heavy at the initial advance and it soon appeared that buyers on the frost predictions of yesterday were taking profits on the materialization of the news. There was buying of good character on a scale down and the decline was interrupted by moderate rallies, but prices gradually worked off to a net loss of about 15 to 18 points in spite of the forecasts calling for continued frosts or freezing temperatures in the Western belt tonight and light to heavy frosts in the northern part of the Eastern belt.

Around 14.31 for January offerings became a little less urgent and the market rallied on covering. There also seemed to be some support from leading bull operators and the active months sold 3 to 4 points over the closing figures of last night during the middle of the afternoon following wintry weather along the northern edge of the belt and the week-end figures showing a smaller into sight than was expected with spinners' takings in excess of the same week last year. In the last few minutes, however, prices eased off from the best under renewed realizing and October closed 13 points under the closing figures of last night, although there was practically no business for that delivery in the late trading. Southern spot markets officially reported early were unchanged to 1-8c lower.

Receipts at the ports today 51,761 against 73,265 last week and 76,760 last year. For the week 400,000 against 451,576 last week and 420,464 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 4,987 against 10,800 last year and at Houston 14,414 against 11,771 last year.

Spot cotton closed steady and unchanged; middling uplands 14.75, middling gulf 15.00; sales 4,400 bales.

Futures opened and closed steady.

REVIEW OF COTTON FOR WEEK

Wild Week on the Market With Big Operators in Limelight—Southern Bulls in the Trading—General Conditions.

New York, Oct. 28.—It has been a wild week in cotton, a week in which big men have moved the chess men on the board and little operators have had to stand from under or get hurt. With prices up one day 60 points and down the next 35 points, the whole trade has been under a tension not seen for several years.

The Southern bulls and some of the up town or Waldorf-Astoria element have been at times bulling the market aggressively, first on the ginners' report of last Tuesday, which showed a total of 600,000 bales smaller than had been expected, and, as they contented, indicated an inadequate crop and later on predictions of frost and actual frost and freezing weather in the southwest, that is, in Oklahoma and Texas with some frost also in Mississippi, Arkansas and Tennessee. Bears have taken the ground that the frost was ten days or two weeks later than usual, and that the crop in Texas is unusually early, so that in that State, at least, no harm could have resulted from the low temperatures. Bulls contend that this season's crop is likely to fall well below 12,000,000 bales, if not below 11,500,000 bales, that world's supplies are down to a low ebb, both of raw cotton and of goods, and that the trade is facing distinctly better times after a prolonged period of depression. More than all, however, they base their arguments for higher prices on the supposition the supplies will fall below the requirements of a re-awakened trade throughout the world.

They argue that there will be a great pressure on this country for cotton where about 75 per cent. of the world's crop is raised. The frosts of Thursday night, they think, put the finishing touches on a wide tract of cotton country in the southwest and destroyed the chances of a top crop. Bears insist that present high prices discount anything that can be said on the bull side. Also, very large spot interests have been enormous sellers during the week, apparently against purchases of the actual cotton at the South. Needless to say it is at the moment an unsettled, irregular market which keeps everybody on the quivive. It is believed by cool headed observers that the weather in the immediate future and the attitude of the spinners will have much to do with the direction of prices.

THE OUTLOOK FOR TRADE.

Retail Demand is Better—A Fair Business in Iron and Steel.

New York, Oct. 28.—Bradstreet tomorrow will say:

Retail demand re-order trade with jobbers in seasonable lines has been quickened by the week's weather developments. Collections have shown a certain degree of improvement also and are classed as fair to good, varying with the sections reporting. In iron and steel a fair business is doing, and trade is best in finished lines. In cotton goods, firmness and a rather more optimistic feeling are noted as a result of curtailed production, small stocks in all hands, and growth of belief in the permanence of about present prices for raw material. In woolen dress goods demand is not greatly changed. Men's wear worsteds have sold better and this has induced some further buying of wools adopted to this line, but clothing grades are still inactive. The leather trade reports fair activity, and there are advices of better orders received by manufacturers of shoes at the east. Throughout all lines there is evidence of conservatism in ordering.

Business failures for the week ending October 27 in the United States were 202; against 197 last week and 217 in the like week of 1909.

FROST IN COTTON BELT.

May Have Effect Upon the Market—An Advance in Liverpool.

(Special tSar Telegram.)

New York, Oct. 28.—Frost occurred in Oklahoma and Northern Texas and is predicted tonight for the northern cotton belt together with Texas. A quick advance in Liverpool followed a disappointing market there, so that our market opened some five points higher to meet a flood of realizing orders, which caused a break of some 15 points before new buyers observed the offerings in anticipation of the expected frost tonight, causing a further advance in Liverpool tomorrow. This market for the past two days has not shown the enthusiasm of the advance in September, probably because the trade is leaning toward larger crop estimates, as the result of two months of good weather and because spinners are not as anxious buyers now as then. At the same time, it is noticeable that few expect any permanant decline in prices. Liverpool should be 20 to 36 points higher tomorrow.

STEEL A FACTOR IN STOCKS

Shrinkage in Volumn of Total Transactions—Marked Rise in Steel Stock—Rest of Market a Minor Fraction.

New York, Oct. 28.—A shrinkage today in the volume of the total transactions in the stock market coupled with a marked rise in the proportions of the dealings in United States Steel had some connection with the feeling of suspicion engendered towards the market operations in that stock. The price was lifted at one time to 80 1-4, which is higher than it has been since April last.

The individual transactions of large calibre. The general list moved closely in sympathy with United States Steel. The day's transactions in that stock reached 189,900 shares out of a total for all stocks of 539,100 shares.

The dealings in Union Pacific and Reading combined were less than those in steel, and the rest of the market was a minor fraction. The sharp relapse when steel fell back was followed by a slow recovery final prices being little changed on the day.

Besides the doubts aroused by the weight of the realizing sales in United States Steel the money outlook had its share in restraining speculative enthusiasm.

The day's sub-treasury statement showed a total of $6,442,000 of cash withdrawals from the banks for the week. The express movement of currency with the interior seems to have yielded a small balance in favor of New York, the sub-treasury operations having been on account of payments of drafts from interior banks on New York bank balances in payment of obligations to the government and representing to that extent an indirect relief of interior requirements. A decrease in cash reserves of the banks for the week of upwards of $6,000,000 is thus indicated. While not sufficient to exhaust the actual surplus as it stood last Saturday above ten million, such a rate of depletion is sufficient to call for some loan contraction to safeguard the surplus.

The decided relaxation in the foreign exchange market also indicated an easing of the pressure from foreign money markets.

Money on call in New York was held down to 3 1-2 per cent., or below in spite of the approach of the November requirements. Supplies of funds for time loans are diminished and rates tend upwards, while the demand for commercial paper is inadequate to take care of offerings.

A sharp break in American smelting was an unsettled influence of the general list. Criticism of a financial plan reported to be in contemplation for the adjustment of relations with the subsidiary Smelters' Securities Company had a depressing effect on the stock.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales par value $1,454,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales of stocks for the day 539,100 shares.

NEW HOTEL FOR BURGAW.

Mr. W. N. Rivenbark Purchases Valuable Property for Purpose.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Burgaw, N. C., Oct. 28.—W. N. Rivenbark, a very progresive citizen with unquestioned business qualifications, recently bought a valuable lot in the town of Burgaw, facing on Dickinson street and Court House avenue, near the A. C. depot, from F. T. Croom, former Register of Deeds for this county, and paid as the real estate people of Burgaw consider, a very high price for same.

His intentions are, as we understand, to build a modern hotel on same, equipping it with electric lights, waterworks, and such other necessities as will make it the most modern hotel between Wilmington and Goldsboro. This is a long-felt need in our thrifty and growing town, and we congratulate ourselves that we have a gentleman among us who possesses this spirit of advancement, regardless of his own individual interest.

TUBERCULOSIS WORK.

Increase of 500 Per Cent. Since 1904.—Over 1,100 Agencies.

New York, Oct. 29.—Active preparation for the publishing of a new Tuberculosis Directory will be begun next week by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis at its New York headquarters.

The directory will contain up-to-date lists of all hospitals, sanatoria, dispensaries, and associations engaged in the war against consumption. A summary of what has been done by the various State legislatures, and the county and municipal governing bodies will be included in the book. It will be the most complete report of the anti-tuberculosis campaign that has ever been published in this country.

The growth of the crusade against tuberculosis is shown to good advantage in the two directories that have been issued and the one in preparation. The first Tuberculosis Directory, published in 1904 by the Tuberculosis Committee of the New York Charity Organization Society and the National Association, listed 133 sanatoria and hospitals for consumptives in the United States, for some of which preliminary provision only had been made. The combined capacity of these institutions was only 8.000 beds. Thirty-two special dispensaries and thirty-nine anti-tuberculosis organizations summed up practically all of the fighting force enumerated in the first directory.

The second directory was prepared by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis and published under the auspices of the Russell Sage Foundation in August 1908. This directory listed 240 sanatoria and hospitals, an increase of 107 from the former directory; 1.. dispensaries, an increase of 420; and 195 associations, an increase of 156. The number of hospital beds listed in 1908 was 14,014.

The new directory that will be issued soon, will list over 400 sanatoria and hospitals with a bed capacity of nearly 25,000; more than 300 special tuberculosis dispensaries and fully 400 anti-tuberculosis association and committees. Since the first directory was issued in 1904, the increase in the number of agencies fighting consumption aggregates nearly 500 per cent.

The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis would like to get in touch with all agencies engaged in the fight against tuberculosis, in order that they may be listed in the new directory.

COTTON PICKERS SCARCE.

Difficulty in Securing Them in Texas as Everywhere.

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 29.—The cotton picker right now is in clover; that is, he would be in clover if he could be induced to pick cotton. Record prices are being offered but there are so many lines of work under way in Texas, all offering good wages, that the cotton grower is experiencing difficulty in having his crop gathered. Employment agencies report a big demand for pickers and, it is stated, fields in certain sections of central and northwest Texts are going to waste on account of insufficient help. One dollar a hundred and in several places as high as $1.25, instead of the usual price of 60 and 75 cents and 50 cents a hundred is being offered. Some sections report as much as one-eighth of the crop already gone to waste on account of the scarcity of pickers.

A. P. Abernathy, of Waco, Texas, has been to San Antonio offering $1.25 but has given it up as a bad job saying: "The laborers of San Antonio seem in too prosperous a condition to be induced to leave the county to pick cotton."

Usually, San Antonio furnishes thousands of such pickers. The Mexicans begin picking cotton in southwest Texas in July and gradually work their way North. They often have worked in the fields until after December 1st. This year the great amount of grubbing and cutting of cord wood on land being cleared for planting next Spring, the railroads under construction, the grading of new city additions and the demand for day laborers as a result of the great amount of construction work going on is giving every Mexican around San Antonio steady work at good pay.

GIFFORD PINCHOT SPEAKER.

Delivered Address at Luncheon Given at Detroit, Mich.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 28.—Gifford Pinchot, former head of the United States Bureau of Forestry, delivered an address this afternoon at the Hotel Pontchartrain at a luncheon given by the Detroit Board of Commerce. As originally planned, the address was to have been given at a banquet this evening, but changes in Mr. Pinchot's itinerary necessitated his early departure for Indianapolis, and the luncheon was substituted for the banquet.

that the books of the treasurer of Synod were correctly kept.

The special order for 10 o'clock was the address of Rev. W. E. Boggs, D. D., Assembly's secretary of Schools and Clleges. Dr. Boggs used most of the time allotted to him in commending Synod for the rapid advancement it has made in the work of education during the past year. He expressed special pleasure at what is being done among the people in the mountain section of the State. He spoke of the splendid worth of the people in that section and urged a continuance of the work of the church among them.

The next report was that of the committee on mission work in mill districts. Rev. R. C. Anderson submitted this report and spoke to the same. He gave interesting facts concerning the work which he has been doing in the mill districts in Gastonia. Under the direction of the First Presbyterian church of Gastonia, of which he is pastor, five mission Sunday Schools in mission sections of that town are being conducted.

Rev. F. B. Rankin also spoke of this work and he said that the church never would discharge its duty in this respect as long as it kept a gulf between the uptown church and the mill church. The first place, he said, to preach the cotton mill problem is in the uptown church. He insisted that the members of the uptown churches must remember that as good blood flows in the veins of the people in the mill section as flows in theirs and they must be treated in keeping with this fact if the work is to be carried on successfully.

Rev. A. R. Shaw, D. D., read the report of the standing committee on the report of the Regents of the Orphans' Home. No work lies nearer the heart of Synod than that of the orphanage and no report has been heard with more interest. This report expressed appreciation of the fact that the health of the children in the orphanage has been so good throughout the year; also, for the cancellation of the debt of $4,500, which has rested upon the orphanage for some years past. The report also expressed gratification at having secured Rev. W. T. Walker as superintendent and for the organ of the orphanage, "Our Fatherless Ones." The report expressed approval of the report of the Regents of the Home and approved their recommendation that $20,000 be apportioned among the eight Presbyteries of Synod and be collected and used for the purpose of installing light and water plants and in making other improvements at the Home. Further recommendations were that the circulation of the orphanage paper be increased; that the cost of supporting a child at the orphanage in "Our Fatherless Ones" and in the Presbyterian Standard the fourth Sabbath in each month be known as "Orphanage Day" in the Sabbath Schools throughout Synod; that an orphanage building be erected at Montreat when deemed practicable; that committees be appointed in the Woman's Missionary Unions in each Presbytery in order to bring the women of the church in closer touch with the orphanage and that the Board of Regents be increased from 10 to 16, one minister and one layman from each Presbytery. The discussion of this important subject was still in progress at noon.

Rev. A. R. Shaw, D. D.

An interesting fact regarding Rev. A. R. Shaw, D. D., is that it is probable that he can say of his church membership what few pastors of any denomination can say. He is pastor of Tenth Avenue Church in Charlotte, one of the growing churches of that city. The membership numbers almost 400 and Dr. Shaw knows that no member of his church indulges in dancing, card playing or theatre-going and no member is given to drinking intoxicants. Dr. Shaw is one of the ablest members of Synod and is a man of the strongest type of Christian character. He commands and holds the confidence of his membership and of the entire community in which he labors and the influence of his consistent life has much to do with the high standing of his members.

THE CAUSE OF MALARIA.

Clear Case Made Out Against Mosquito as Carrier.

From 1650 until within recent years people believed malaria was due to the breathing of air laden with moisture and the odor of decaying vegetation. As this kind of air is invariably associated with swamps, malaria, for some time, has been recognized as a disease of low, marshy countries. The word, malaria, is a combination of the two Italian words, mal and aria, which mean bad air.

In the nineties of the last century a party of Englishmen, people living where malaria is unknown, selected the most malarious spot in the world, the Roman Campagna, for an interesting experiment, the results of which are absolutely incompatible with the old idea regarding the cause of the disease. In that malarious region, where nearly everybody suffered from the disease, these Englishmen had erected, within a few feet of each other, two cheap cottages. One provided with double swinging doors and closely screened, was mosquito proof; the other, without screens, was perfectly open to the mosquitoes. The party of Englishmen divided into two groups, one group inhabiting the mosquito-proof house, the other group the unscreened house. Both groups were fed from the same kitchen, drank from the same well, and breathed the same air. The group living in the screened house remained perfectly well; the group living in the unscreened house all had malaria.

Sir Patrick Manson, an English expert on malaria, had mosquitoes to bite Italians suffering with malaria, transferred these mosquitoes in cages to England, where the hungry insects were permitted to bite Sir Patrick's son and another man. Within 16 days the time required for malaria to develop after infection, both of these gentlemen, who had never been exposed to malaria, became ill with the disease.

An Italian expert on malaria named Grassi discovered a form of the disease peculiar to certain species of birds. By confining mosquitoes in cages with birds with this disease and afterwards tranferring the mosquitoes to new cages with healthy birds, he could reproduce the disease.

Ross, another English authority, with the aid of the microscope, traced the malaria germ, sucked into the insect's body in biting, into the walls of the mosquito's stomach, where it underwent a regular series of changes, thence to the salivary glands of the insect, whence it was ejected into the unfortunate next bitten.

All this evidence makes out a clear case against the mosquito as the carrier of malaria. If this is correct, the destruction of this insect should invariably followed by the decrease or complete eradication of malaria. This final evidence, the conclusive evidence of actual results, will be furnished in next week's article.
